LESSON PLACEMENT- Please use this guide if you are selecting lessons for your child.

Please note: The Gunstock outreach program offers 4 weeks of 50-minute lessons to many participants. Signing up for the right class and coming to the first week can sometimes be overwhelming. Students signed up for lessons can expect to learn new skills and improve their skiing /riding skills weekly.

Lesson Specifics:

- 50-minute group lesson (participants can expect approximately 3-4 runs during this 50 min lesson)
- Class Size- typically 6-10 students
- Groups might be adjusted to keep kids of similar skills or on similar terrain.

Groups may have students with higher or lower skill levels. During your first Program Day; Gunstock's professionally trained Instructors will be evaluating and assessing all students in their respective groups. They will note any recommendations for adjustments to be made to their assigned groups. Instructors will continue to evaluate students throughout the 4 weeks and make recommendations as appropriate. We will also move students if they feel overwhelmed by the speed or terrain of the group and would be more comfortable moving to a lower-level group. Lessons may be conducted on easier terrain than your child typically skis or rides. This is especially true in the first week, when instructors are evaluating and assessing all students assigned to their groups. Even in later weeks, instructors may use lower-level terrain to teach higher-level skills.

Here are some common answers to frequently asked questions and concerns:

- Lessons may be conducted on easier terrain than your child typically skis or rides. This is especially true in the first week, when instructors are evaluating and assessing all students assigned to their groups. Even in later weeks, instructors may use lower-level terrain to teach higher-level skills.

Students will only be moved between groups for two reasons:

- The student's instructor has indicated that the student's skills would be better matched with another group.
- The student feels overwhelmed by the speed or terrain of the group and would be more comfortable moving to a lower-level group.
